REDUCE CHARLESTON DATES

JOCKEY CLUB STEWARDS SANCTION MEETING OF FIFTY-FIVE DAYS' DURATION.

Six Days Cut From Proposed Schedule at Palmetto Park in Order to Avoid Conflict with Spring Meetings in Virginia and Maryland.

New York, December 12.—At a meeting of the stewards of the Jockey Club at the Charleston Fair and Racing Association was granted dates to conduct a race meeting of fifty-five days from January 25 until March 20. This allotment is just six days shorter than the time that was applied for by Francis J. Pons, the time being cut from the end of the meeting.

The curtailing of the racing time was made necessary by reason of the changed racing conditions in the State of Maryland. In the spring of 1913 there will be applications for racing time from the Jamestown Jockey Club, the Maryland Jockey Club at Pimlico, and the new association at Havre de Grace. To properly look after the wants of these tracks, so that there will be no conflict, a cut in the Charleston time became necessary.

Another question, that is entirely outside the Jockey Club, is the matter of the law in South Carolina, and Mr. Pons and his associates have a battle to win before racing will be possible even on January 25. A prohibitory measure goes into effect January 1, and unless it is amended, repealed or non-enforced, the racing will not be possible.

The track has gone along with its preparations for the meeting. The stakes have been closed and there are two plans that may be worked successfully to avoid interference with the sport. One is to have the operation of the law suspended until July 1, and the other is to fight it on the technicality that the measure appearing on the statute books is not the one that was passed, for the reason that it does not show the amendments that were made after the bill was originally introduced.

Whatever the plan is, the association is going forward with its preparations for the racing.

The officials named for the meeting, and approved by the Jockey Club stewards, are: W. F. Schulte, president; Judge Fred Gerhardt, associate judge; James Milton, starter; J. B. Campbell, steward representing the Charleston Fair and Racing Association; C. H. Pettigill, steward representing the Jockey Club; and Joseph McLennan, clerk of the scales.

There were some minor matters of a routine character disposed of during the meeting of the stewards, which was attended by August Belmont, H. K. Knapp, Andrew Miller and Schuyler Parsons.

MAKING FRIENDS FOR THE THOROUGHBRED.

Canadian Breeding Bureau Stallions Getting Fine Results in Matings with Common Mares.

Montreal, Que., December 12.—The well-known thoroughbred stallion Pink Coat arrived in Montreal yesterday, consigned to the Canadian National Breeding Bureau. He is a grand specimen of the breed, and will be a sensational horse show animal in the spring. The bureau has not yet decided where Pink Coat shall be placed, but will select the best locality for him, either in Ontario or Quebec.

The bureau stallions King, and Olean are in magnificent condition at D. Raymond's farm near Dorval. These two famous sires will be at the disposal of local breeders for the season of 1913.

The thoroughbred stallion Workbook, by Box, ordered by Bend Or, has arrived at Windsor, en route to the bureau at Montreal. Workbook is a fine young bay stallion of choicest breeding, and is the eleventh descendant of Bend Or, which the Canadian Bureau has received by donation. The bureau has obtained better results in Canada from the Bend Or than from any other stallion line, not excepting the St. Simons.

J. F. Morrow, of Calumet, who has the bureau stallion Athel, reports that there are many remarkable colts in that part of Quebec. Mr. Morrow has a filly sixteen months old by Athel, out of a cold-blooded mare, this mare being of the small order and only fifteen hands high. The filly is now 60½ inches in height, girth 68½ inches, and weight 125 pounds. A head mated with eighty-three mares in 1912, and some of his young-year-olds have sold for as high as $225, these youngsters being out of farm mares.

Thomas McNeill, M. P., of Salt Coats, Sask., reports ninety-three yearlings and yearlings out of year-olds out of the bureau stallion, Senator Clay. He says they are the best-looking youngsters ever seen in that part of Saskatchewan.

The big colt, stallion, St. Damius, donated by W. V. Conran to the Canadian Bureau, has been sent to Norfolk, Va., to Montreal. St. Damius was one of the best-looking horses seen at the recent Norfolk meeting.

Down in New Brunswick, Ostrich has 101 colts. Some of his two-year-olds are being driven to harness, and reports from there say that they are as fully matured as three-year-olds of any other breed. Farmers are delighted with them.

The bureau stallion, Zipango, has been sent to C. B. Clay, of Bridgetown, Prince Edward Island. This is the first horse placed on the island by the bureau and marked the commencement of the work there. There was a fine time when Prince Edward Island produced hundreds of the best class of light horses, and an effort will be made to rehabilitate the industry there.

Demand for stallions from the west continue to come in by the score, and the bureau is now making an effort to secure a carload for shipment from Montreal in March to different points in Alberta and British Columbia. Five more horses will also be sent to Saskatchewan, where the bureau work is making great strides.

Mr. G. W. Stephens, chairman of the board of governors of the National Bureau, left last night for England. He took with him a report of the bureau work for 1912, which will be delivered to General Sir John French, Inspector-General of the Imperial General Staff. General French is a valued member of the bureau board of governors, and takes a keen interest in the work.

DANNY MAHER'S SUCCESS IN ENGLAND.

No more flattering tribute could be paid to the skill, industry, and integrity of a jockey than that he should ride first year after year for Lord Rosebery, by that distinction is the happy position of "Danny" Maher, who when invited to renew his engagement for next year returned the compliment by accepting readily and added, "When I cease riding for Lord Rosebery I quit altogether." We may take it, therefore, that the association is as happy as it has proved successful, and there is no denying that the crack American rider has on many occasions achieved marvellous victories in the handsome primrose and rose hopped liver, one of the most brilliant having been that scored on Neil Gow in the Two Thousand Guineas, though let me in fairness add that Dillon's handling of Lemberg on that oc-

CONTRIBUTORS TO ROBERT DAVIES' 1912 WINNINGS

The Canadian-owned stable of R. Davies played an important part in early eastern and Canadian racing of the year, but owing to the retirement of such winning horses as Plate Glass, Liberty Hall and Calgary did not figure so importantly in the autumn campaign. In Plate Glass Mr. Davies possessed one of the best handicap horses of recent years, a capital weight carrier and gifted with speed of the extreme order. Liberty Hall was quite the best two-year-old raced in the early spring in the eastern campaign, but met with an accident and was not raced subsequent to the Pimlico spring meeting. Calgary was expected to prove a real star and fell short when put to the test of racing, but at that ran well and demonstrated his right to be ranked with the best of the year. Others that raced usefully for the stable were Knights Differ, First Sight, Fathrola and Flower Girl, the stable record for the year being:

RECORD OF T. C. McDOWELL'S STABLE THIS YEAR

That model turfman, T. C. McDowell, not only had a successful year, according to the scale on which he conducts racing, but he enjoyed the agreeable sensations attendant on the possession of a high-class star of the race track. All of this The Manager was and a fleet, game and weight-carrying colt that would have made his mark in the racing of any previous year. He showed his mettle in the racing of 1913, with every prospect on breeding and performance of making a successful stallion when done with racing. Of his other horses Star Jasmine, Ilma and Accord contributed usefully to the defrayment of stable expenses, but did not shine in racing in comparison with their brilliant stablemate. The stable record for 1912 was:

casion was no less skilful, proof of which was afforded when the pair ran a dead heat for the Eclipse Stakes at Sandown Park. Time flies so fast that it hardly seems possible that Maher has been with us nearly thirteen years, but such is the case. It was in the autumn of 1900 that he quietly came over the land of stars and stripes to try his luck under the Union Jack, and following the lead of the mighty mite, Tod Sloan, he seized his first opportunity of scoring a bull's-eye. Tod had preceded him by three years, and, if I remember right, came over at the instance of J. R. Keene to ride St. Cloud in the Cambridgehire, while incidentally I may mention he thought he had won by a neck, but not so the judge, whose award went in favor of Comfrey by a head. Sloan, in spite of the previous visit of Simms, may be said to have been the pioneer of the American crouch seat as far as riding in England is concerned, and his success was phenomenal, but unfortunately he came under the ban of the powers that were, and retired gracefully, but by no means disgraced; indeed, there are many who hold to the opinion that he might with fair justice have been granted a licence to ride again.

It is, however, with Maher, not Sloan, that I am immediately concerned, and straightaway I may say that in spite of having been in a sense—not for a moment disrespectful—an interloper, he had not been here long before he became one of the popular idols among knights of the pickin, and that pleasure has been enhanced rather than discounted on further acquaintance. His first appearance in the saddle in England was at the Manchester September Meeting in 1900, when, for Mr. McCreery, he landed the slight odds laid on Paine for a two-year-old selling race, and in those same years, and at his next essay, he won the Friday Plate on the same day on Bad News. To say the least of it, this was an auspicious start for the newcomer, who went on smiling until at the Manchester terminal meeting he won the Stand Plate on Gloucester for J. Moffat, at 100 to 7, and so brought his score up to twenty-seven for his brief season. Except for the short leather, his style was compared with that of Tom Cannon, which was no mean compliment to commend with, and in those same years, and at his next essay, he won the Friday Plate on the same day on Bad News. WINNING HIGH-PRICED YEARLINGS.

Writing about the successful English two-year-olds of this year, "Vigilant" of London Sportsman deals interestingly with those which were sold at public auction for large prices, some of which rank as the best two-year-olds of 1912. By oversight, probably, he makes no mention of the American-bred Rock Flint, which H. E. Beddington bought for $3,300 at the sale of the Belmont yearlings in 1911, and which won for him this year the profitable return of $16,800 and gave Craganour his only defeat. With values rendered into American money terms, the article said:

"Although long prices are often given for yearlings at public auction, more frequently than not the chief winning two-year-olds of the season come under the heading of bred by owner. The crack juveniles of 1907 for example, Leander and Neil Gow, were both home-bred, the one by Mr. Fairlie and the other by Lord Roselyne. In 1910 Pierri, King William, Stedfast, and Sunstar were likewise bred by their owners, but Searforth, who shared with Pierri the credit of being the best two-year-old, was bred for sale, but was disposed of privately by his breeder, Lady Conyngham, having met with a mishap as a yearling. At the close of 1911 Lady Conyngham was again responsible for one of the juvenile cracks in London who had fetched $8,000 as a yearling, but the other topsawyer among the juveniles, White Star, was like his own brother, Sunstar, before him, a home-bred youngster. This season, by way of a change, the two biggest winners among two-year-olds, Craganour and Shogun, came from the ranks of the yearlings sold by auction. By Desmond—Veneration II., Craganour, which fell to the bid of Mr. Bower Ismay at $16,000, was the highest-priced lot of the Sledmere yearlings. Shogun, which was originally called Knock-dork, was not, as I have seen it stated, bred by E. Hulton, but by D. R. Browning, at whose sale Mr. Hulton gave $10,000 for him.

Looking through the returns for 1910-11 find that thirty-seven yearlings were sold by auction for $5,000 or over, the total realized for them being $284,250. Craganour was not only the highest priced one, but also the most successful, an unusual occurrence. In all he has won five races of the total value of $40,250, inclusive of the New Stakes, Exeter Stakes (First July), Prince of Wales Plate (York), Champagne Stakes, and the Middle Park Plate. Shogun, by Santol—Kendal Belle (not in the Stud Book) is the next most successful juvenile of those sold by auction, also having five victories to his credit of the aggregate value of $24,987. Two of his successes were at Epsom (Hyde Park Plate and Woodcote Stakes), while he also won the valuable Coventry Stakes at Ascot, the Fallowfield Stakes at Newmarket, and the Lavant Stakes (Goodwood). Inclusive of Craganour and Shogun, eleven of the thirty-seven high-priced yearlings have won one, or more, races apiece and the sum total of their winnings is $105,577. When one bears in mind the large proportion of yearlings annually sold that fail to win, and the appreciable percentage of them that do not run at all, finding an accident, illness or inability to stand training, it cannot be regarded as otherwise than satisfactory to find that nearly one-third of the thirty-seven high-priced youngsters of 1911 have succeeded in winning in their first full season.

"Apart from the two cracks, of the other winners bought at auction in their yearling days, five more have won over $5,000. Landes, by Desmond, out of Landes, for which P. Nelke gave $8,750, has won races worth $5,760. Karezza, one of the late Mr. Houldsworth's yearlings, won the Third, out of Cassania, which cost A. F. Bassett $5,250, has secured three races worth $5,375. Queen's Man, also by William the Third, out of Queen's Marie, has a $7,250 purchase by Mr. Hulton and has got back $5,425 in two races. Atwood, bred by St. Aldegonde, is another that has nearly recouped his buyer, Mr. Broome, for his outlay of $6,000, having won the Champion Breeders' Foal Stake of $3,425 at Derby September. The seventh and last of the winners of over $5,000 is the Third, bred by St. Frusquin, out of Alicia, which Craganour, was a Sledmere yearling. Lord Lonsdale gave $12,000 for her, and she won the Seaton Delaval Plate at Newmarket, value $5,400. The remaining winners were Sledmere, a $5,000 yearling bred by Captain Greer, by Desmond, out of Serenata, which took the Richmond Stakes, $4,055, at Goodwood; Arda, one of Sir John Robinson's Workshop Manor yearlings, by St. Frusquin, out of Ardmore, which, by way of return for $5,750, won the Third, twice, the last time over a mile, in the Houghton week, contributing $3,120 to her owner's exchequer; also Fairy King and Chain Armour, each of which won a race worth $975. Fairy King was a $8,000 yearling, and Chain Armour cost $5,000. These last, if they have not won much, have, at all events, shown ability to gallop, and who knows what the future may have in store for one or other valuable race?"

"The best two-year-old is not always the best three-year-old, as was proved, for example, by Spearpoint and by Sunstar, each of which had his 'book' superseded by a better one. Spearpoint, by the way, was a cheap yearling to win the Derby, costing Major Loder only $1,500. He was the cheapest of all the Sledmere lot that season. Tagalog, too, was much inferior to others of her age last year, but she has shown a decided improvement. Walter Raphael, with the spoils of the Derby, also the One Thousand Guineas. It is much too early yet to say if the remaining twenty-six long-priced yearlings were really bought, or not. A number of them have shown promise, and some being Halos, for which Mr. Nelke gave $15,000. At Newbury the other day he was decidedly unlucky to succumb by a head to Great Sport, and with his fine pedigree, by St. Frusquin, out of Glare (dam of Fairy), it is not surprising that he went near to justice to his ancestors next season. Deslond, by Desmond, out of Taglioni, was another of the unlucky ones, a brace of seconds, two thirds and a fourth showing that, while such as Ben Wyvis, The Nun, China Cock and starting rider, he went near to occasion. It should be mentioned that of the twenty-six unsuccessful ones seven never ran, these including Mouette, $9,000. Accolade, $7,500. Silver How, $6,000. Rectify, $11,000. Marietta, $8,000. Polyglot, $2,250 and Ottery St. Mary, $5,500. It does not follow that they will not run next season, but, even if not, four of these are fillies, and well-bred ones, too, with a value of their own for stud purposes, which makes it immaterial whether they do any good themselves on the race course."

A USEFUL MARE THAT HAS RETIRED.

Ethel Day, a gray mare by Faraday—Ethel T. that ran many good races for J. B. Respass in her younger days, has disappeared from the list of horses engaged in racing and the presumption is that she has gone to the stud. At one time in her career, she raced with remarkable consistency for a selling plate and even after she passed from Mr. Respass' possession and was taken to the Pacific coast to race in W. F. Waller's stable, she continued to show good form. She was last seen in a race at Tampa, Fla., in the early part of 1911, when she ran in the name of A. Wilson. Her racing record by years is shown below:

Winner—B. c. by Fillgrane—Short Cake (trained by A. G. Blair).
Went to post at 3:15. At post 2 minutes. Start good and slow. Won driving; second and third the same. LESCAR, after being a forward contender from the start, came fast through the homestretch and, taking the lead, gamely withstood a challenge from LOVE DAY at the end. LOVE DAY closed a big gap from a slow beginning and finished with a rush into a fast going second. MANDADERO ran well throughout and took the lead in the stretch, but tired in the final strides. CLINT TUCKER set the pace and was in the lead when entering the stretch, but swerved to the extreme outside rail. JANUS and ACUMEN ran well. DAVID WARFIELD ran much below his true form.
Scratched—6655 Lily Paxon, 110.

6708 FOURTH RACE—5-1-2 Furlongs. (94978—1:05½—4—105.) Purse $300. 3-year-olds and upward. Selling. Net value to winner $225; second, $50; third, $25.
